12. 소방관의 식단에 관한 다음 글의 내용과 일치하지 않는 것은?

Firefighting is a demanding job that will need 6,000 calories daily. Firefighters who don't eat sufficient calories will get exhausted and eliminate body fat and muscle. Consuming a lot of calories within the months and weeks of a busy fire season may harm immune function and result in illness. This really isn't the opportunity to drop weight. Firefighters should test their weight every two weeks to track their energy balance. The very best time to consider is at the morning prior to breakfast.

Only 10 to 15 percent of wildfires occur on their own in nature. The other 85 to 90 percent result from human causes, including unattended camp and debris fires, discarded cigarettes, and arson. Naturally occurring wildfires can spark during dry weather and droughts. In these conditions, normally green vegetation can convert into bone-dry, flammable fuel; strong winds spread fire quickly; and warm temperatures encourage combustion. With these ingredients, the only thing missing is a spark — in the form of lightning, arson, a downed power line, or a burning campfire or cigarette — to wreak havoc.

Psychologists need to always be aware that no two people are the same. No one understands language the same way since their understanding will be linked to their personal experience of the world. So, psychologists try to help the client develop their own understanding of their situation. They enable clients to explore aspects of their life and feelings by being able to talk openly and freely. Good counselling should reduce the client's confusion, allowing them to make effective decisions that lead to positive changes in their attitude or behaviour. The ultimate aim of a psychologist is to allow the client to make their own choices, reach their own decisions and act upon them.
