The Western people eat with utensils to show a high degree of prestige and sophistication; the Chinese eat with sticks to show their cleverness of dealing with those sticks; the Saudi people eat with their hands. They say, "Why should we eat with utensils or sticks that are used by other people? They may not be as clean as our hands." They also say that they know whether their hands are clean or not and that nobody else uses them.

In preparing the juice, the skin and other textural components of the apple are left behind.

Pay attention to the way food is prepared. ____ Processing can reduce fiber content. A cup of apple juice, for example, has only about one-twentieth the fiber of a single whole apple. ____ Many brown-colored breads called wheat or multi-grain are made with highly refined flour, meaning most of the fiber has been milled out. ____

The boss was disturbed when he saw his employees loafing, "Look", he said, "everytime I come in here I see things I'd rather not see. Now, I'm a fair man, and if there are things that bother you, tell me. I'm putting up a suggestion box and I urge you to use it so that I'll never see what I just saw!"

At the end of the day, when the boss opened the box, there was only one little piece of paper in it. It read: "Don't wear rubber-soled shoes!"

At noon on a summer day, Death Valley looks truly devoid of wildlife. But in reality, there are 55 species of mammals, 32 kinds of birds, 36 kinds of reptiles, and 3 kinds of amphibians. During the day many seek shelter under rocks and in burrows. As night approaches, however, the land cools. The desert becomes a center of animal activity. Owls hunt for mice. Bats gather insects as they fly. The little kit fox is out looking for food, accompanied by snakes, hawks, coyotes, and bobcats. Many of these animals, like the desert plants, have adapted to the dry desert. They use water very efficiently. They can often survive on water supplies that would leave similar animals elsewhere dying of thirst.

- Many kinds of reptiles live in Death Valley
- The animals that live in Death Valley live on desert plants
- Many animals die because of thirst
- Death Valley is a place full of wildlife

The average brain is naturally lazy tends to take the line of least resistance. The mental world of the ordinary man consists of beliefs which he has accepted without questioning and to which he is firmly attached; he is instinctively hostile to anything which would upset the established order of this familiar world. A new idea, inconsistent with some of the beliefs which he holds, means the necessity of rearranging his mind; and the process is laborious, requiring a painful expense of brain-energy. To his and his fellows, who from the vast majority, new ideas and options which cast doubt on established beliefs and institutions, seem evil just because they are disagreeable. It is desirable that this attitude should be altered for the progress of the society.

The books you read for _____ can be read in a state of relaxation, and nothing is lost. But a great book, a book that raises and tries to answer great fundamental questions, demands the most _____ reading of which you are capable. You don't absorb the ideas of a great thinker the way you absorb the crooning of a popular singer. You have to reach for them. You cannot do that while you are asleep.

Whenever you make a noise, you are making waves of sound that travel through the air. Although you can't see these sound waves, they touch things all around you. Usually, the sound waves fade as they travel. But sometimes the sound waves hit something and bounce back. Then you can hear the same sound twice. It's like a ball that bounces back toward you when you throw it against a wall.

A health warning will appear on all liquor beginning on March 23 for the first time in the nation, according to liquor manufactures. The warning will read, "Excessive drinking may cause cirrhosis of the liver of liver cancer and increase the probability of accidents while driving or working." The move is in compliance with the Public Health Promotion Law enacted last September, which makes it mandatory for all liquor sellers to place a warning on their liquor bottles. The actual sentence of the warning has been chosen from among three examples suggested by the Ministry of Health and Welfare.
